

EASTERN MENNONITE SEMINARY

Prepared to serve and lead in a global context

SUMMER 2016

ALLEGHENY MENNONITE CONFERENCE Seminary Annual Report

Veterans’ needs addressed at EMS

Several recent seminary graduate focused their MDiv capstone on veterans’ concerns. They include Matt Stearn, who looked at how Mennonite denominations can provide healing communities for combat veterans, and Methodist pastor and former combat veteran Darin Busé, who named spiritual trauma as another casualty of combat.

Though the topic is an unusual area of interest for a seminary in the historic peace church tradition, EMS dean Michael King says the timely and necessary discussion “plunges the seminary into one of the most critical issues of our day. There is a sense of really powerful mutual healing potential.”

2017 School for Leadership Training

“Yearning To Get Along . . . and Being True To Ourselves.”

January 16-18, 2017

Whether we can do both is a riddle of our times. Whatever our political, cultural, or theological place, we often see someone as “other” than us. During SLT 2017 we will identify ways we practice “othering” instead of “neighboring.” We will explore healthy ways to navigate our interactions with the “other” while wearing our own world-view glasses.

Christena Cleveland, author of Disunity in the Church, and Drew Hart, author of Trouble I’ve Seen: Changing the Way the Church Views Racism will be featured keynote speakers, with many other presenters contributing to panels and workshops. Watch emu.edu/slt for updates on speakers as details are finalized.

Statement of Purpose

Eastern Mennonite Seminary prepares men and women to serve and lead in a global context. In response to God’s saving grace, we educate students to bear witness to the gospel of Jesus Christ in the power of God’s Spirit as wise interpreters, mature practitioners, discerning communicators, and transformational leaders.

Lee Snyder, University interim president

Michael King, seminary dean

Phil Helmuth, director of church relations

Laura Amstutz, director of seminary admissions

Les Horning, associate director of seminary development, admissions and church relations
